The experience of teaching a lesson to kindergartners is typically quite different from the experience of teaching a lesson to upper-division college students. In part, this is due to the fact that kindergarten classes include children who are just 5 or 6 years old. I suggest in this problem is to have a Teacher Mini Grants ... which serve as a template for developing and delivering a unit of instruction. According to Gagne's theory, the way to determine the ... in the selection and utilization of instructional materials that are useful in the concepts that they teach in each lesson.
